CRAB ORCHARD, LINCOLN COUNTY.

—Mrs. Tarrant will open a boarding school for young ladies about the 1st of October in her home on Lancaster street.

—Little James Holman is very ill with malaria fever. His sister, Miss Kate, is quite sick, too, and has been for sometime.
—Crab Orchard is unusually gay this summer and we will venture to say that it has had more pretty visitors than any town in the county.

—The rain last Friday night kept many of our young people from attending the ball at Dripping Springs. The Crab Orchard string band furnished the music for the occasion.

—Mr. S. R. Kennedy, who has been telegraph operator at Paris, Tennessee, has gone to St. Louis to accept a better position.
Mr. Kennedy's many friends in his old home will be glad to hear of his good fortune.
—Mrs. E. Smith gave a party last Friday night to her little nieces, Miss Sager. Those who were present say the refreshments were delicious and the evening a most pleasant one in every respect.

—Mrs. J. Cooper, of Kansas City, Mo., is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Redd. Miss Alice Ward has gone to Richmond to attend the fair. Miss Mary Brough, of Nicholasville, is visiting Mrs. R. H. Brough. Col John B. Fish, of Philadelphia, is in town Sunday, making a visit to the fair. Mrs.
Rhoda Higgins and Miss Lettie, of Greenwood, are the guests of Mrs. George King.
—Instead of Miss Baker, it is Lucy Barker, of Jessamine, who is visiting Mrs. Belle Livingston. Mr. and Mrs. J. K. King and her guests, Miss Helen Chestnut, of Kingston, are at the Harrodsburg fair. Mr. S. W.
Cotton, of Middleburg, paid C. O. a flying visit Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. W. T. S. eight even are visiting relatives in Mercer. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Higgins, of Stanford, spent several days in the country with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Higgins.

A curious and interesting relic of Indian barbarism was received at the war department a few days ago. It consisted of a necklace of human fingers. Originally there were eleven fingers strung together after the manner of necklaces of bear's claws, but three had been lost. The ghostly adornment was captured in an attack on the Northern Cheyennes in 1876 and each finger represented a life taken by the warrior, the big medicine man of the tribe.
The fingers had been preserved by opening the skin, removing the bones, crapping away all the tissue and fatty substances, replacing the bones and subjecting the skin to a continuing process. The necklace was sent to West Point by Capt. Burke, who is now engaged in preparing some historical matter relating to the Indians. It was brought from West Point to Washington in order that it may be reproduced in paper mache at the Smithsonian Institution. The scientists of that institution are quite interested over it, regarding it as a prominent specimen of the barbarous habits of the Indians, who are now fast disappearing. War Department officials, however, look upon it with disgust, whenever they are able to emphasize upon sufficient hardship to take a peep at it.

How to SNAKE SNAKES.—A gentleman who recently returned from the western coast of Africa tells a New York Mail writ-ter how the natives provide against the dangers of venomous snakes, which abound in those regions. "Whenever it is deemed necessary to penetrate a certain vast morass which abounds in snakes, the natives simply rub the soles of their feet with garlic and oil. The scent of the garlic is too strong for the delicate stomachs of the reptiles and they crawl away as fast as they are able.
This insures almost absolute safety. The harmless creatures even hesitate to tackle a man smelling with this odoriferous vegetable. Another method employed by the natives when they wish to sit to rest is to swish the air with ruda. The peculiar noise of the ruda seems to inspire the serpents with terror, for they hasten away out of hearing of the sound."

The story that kissing was introduced into England by Rowena, daughter of Hunnias, the Saxon, is pretty enough to be true, but it probably isn't all the same. As the story runs a banquet was given the British monarch, at which the Princess, after presenting the brimming beaker to her lips, salu-tated the astonished and delighted Visconti with a little kiss, after the manner of her own people. Rowena may have been a real nice girl, but we believe that Mother Eve gave the first lesson in osculation.— [Chicago Journal.]

Says Bob Ingersoll: "My idea of a lawyer is the great English attorney who, having accumulated a fortune of £1,000,000, left it all in a will to make a home for idlers, declaring that he wanted to give it back to the people from whom he took it."

MT. VERNON, ROCKCASTLE COUNTY.

—The rats are eating up the growing corn in and around town.

—A very large crop of oats is reported throughout the mountains.

—Bessie, a little daughter of Fuller and Rebecca Francisco died of diphtheria at Gum Sul plum Tuesday.

—The rock quarry at Wildie is shipping six tons of stone per day for the new Cin-cin a bridge.

—Larkin Edson was taken in by a 17' 8" misled in the northern part of this county on the charge of liquor selling, and was lodged in the Richmond jail.

—We are told that the knights of Ishtar are thinking of contesting the election in the legislative race between Ward and Webb, claiming that Ward is and was a citizen of Lincoln county and not eligible.

—Mr. George Sandbrook, of Livingston, who was taken in Louisville last week to the dealers, was brought home Monday night in a much worse condition, and it is thought that he cannot live through the week.

—A telegram from Marshal Hamilton, at Lancaster, Tuesday, says he has captured the man Johnson who broke into and robbed the shops here last week. It is said the same man robbed a shop at Crab Orchard Saturday night.

—Messrs. A. K. Dyche, of the Tele., and E. C. Walton, of our paper, were mixing without people Monday and Tuesday in the interest of their respective papers. El dred more than 50 names to his already large list of subscribers.

—Elected at their success and supposed gains in the gubernatorial and legislative races, the republicans are now inquiring and organizing, expecting to elect a Congressman from this district next year. They will attempt to carry this county by 500 majority. May be they may and may be they may not.

—The negro convict, Henry Smith, who shot and killed the guard, Ball, in this county three years ago, will not be tried at this term of court on account of his term lacking 11 days of being out in the penitentiary. A bench warrant will be sent to Frankfort for Smith's detention on the expiration of his present sentence.

—Our stock is now full and complete. A splendid line of clothing; dry goods in abundance. Boots and shoes, hats and caps, a very large assortment. Hardware and table cutlery; harness and saddlery; farming implements, etc. The largest and best lot of notions in town. In fact anything wanting in the mercantile line. We desire the trade of the teachers. Come and see us.
We will make it to your advantage.
F. L. Thompson & Bro.

—Mr. Frank Harris, train dispatcher at Rawland, was out on the line Tuesday making monthly inspection. He informed us that he would shortly leave to take the position of master of trains on the St. Louis division of the L. & N. All of the employees regret to give him up. He has been on the road so long with them and he is a man who gives justice to all, it is not to be wondered that he leaves so many well-wishers behind, who would be glad to see him succeed as well in his new position as he has in his old one.

—Samuel Brown has returned to his work in Louisville after two weeks' sickness. Mrs. S. W. Purvis at Harrodsburg.
Mr. Alex. Lusk walked 23 miles on election day to vote. Miss Bridie Denison, of L. county, is at J. W. Brown's. J. W. Runt, of the Stanford Mills, was here Tuesday, doing a good business. Conductor Cahler and brakeman Price are attending our court. J. M. Higginbotham, of Lancaster, was in town Tuesday. McCall Ward has returned from Illinois, where he had gone to look at a farm with a view of trading African Pythons of Girard, was with us Wednesday.

—Judge Morrow opened the summer term of circuit court at this place Monday morning. After charging and instructing the grand jury at some length as to their duties in ferreting out those who have broken the laws of the land, for which whisky men came in for a goodly share, the regular order of business was taken up. A few minor cases have been tried and disposed of. Some cases against the liquor men were tried. In one case the seller was fined $25. The prosecuting witness, a London gentleman, walked up to the clerk's desk and deposited the amount. Below is a list of the juries:

Grand Jury—J. W. Marlow, W. D. Mullin, W. P. Hunt, James Roberts, P. P.
Singleton, J. W. Gentry, F. P. Parker, W.
B. Whitehead, Lewis Rowles, Joshua Cummings, W. C. Birdsell, J. M. Jones, H. C.
Gentry, D. S. Davitt, Micajah Southard, M. J. Cook, foreman.

Petit Jury—H. J. Mullins, Henry Maguire, John Crammel, James Cocks, Adam Lowery, J. S. Gidd, Sr., John Adams, Wm.
Kindly, William McKinney, Jas. French, Gran Price, W. J. Chestnut, George Gentry, W. G. Capps, Walk Mullins, Edith Owens, Milton Darman, Jones P. Fish, J.
F. Purrell, L. M. Houk, David Griffin, J.
D. Pennington, W. T. French.

—In the make-up of the jury it will be observed that the gentlemen composing the grand jury have two democrats to illustrate with them and among the petit jury will be found four of that political faith.

—The case of the Commonwealth against John Mullins for shooting at Conductor Cahler was tried and he was fined $75 and costs.

—The grand jury indicted a man and his wife, who live at Livingston, named first-ham, for cruel and inhuman treatment of their six year-old girl, who, it is said, died of injuries received at the hands of her parents. It is alleged that the child was accused and beaten until she was a mere skeleton and was at different times placed upon a hot stove by her inhuman father. The prisoners were arrested Wednesday and are held for trial next Tuesday, when the jurists will be heard.

—Crops are suffering extremely for rain.
—Born, on the 5th inst., to the wife of H. D. Jackson, a girl.

—A little son of Wade Gill, at Pittsburg, died Tuesday morning of diphtheria.

—James Dees was kicked by a horse a day or so ago and badly hurt.

competitor, Sam Ward. Bailey's majority was 505.

was here the first of the week. Prof. J. M.
Clayton has returned from a trip to Cincinnati. His wife and child are still in the city. Dr. E. M. Hill and little son, Manchester, are in town. J. H. Jackson, J.
W. Jones, A. L. Reid and T. J. Cantrill, of this city, attended court at Mt. Vernon in the Mullins case. "Smiling Dave" Jackson and better half left Tuesday morning for an extended trip through the Licking, Big Sandy, Kentucky and Cumberland river counties. Uncle Peter Felton is out again from a painful illness. M. J. Connally, section foreman, is just out after a severe attack of pneumonia.

BRODHEAD, ROCKCASTLE COUNTY.

—Many of business men are ordering coal for winter use.
—The dry weather and scarcity of water has forced some of our citizens to dig cisterns. Mr. John Perkins takes the lead.

—The fourth term of Brodhead Academy will open Sept. 5th, under the supervision of Miss Alice Carson. Trustees, patrons and friends are cordially invited to visit the school.

—Mrs. A. E. Delhoff, of Somerset, and Miss Jennie Parne, of Crab Orchard, are visiting friends here. George Melvin, of Lilly, made a driving visit to our village this week. C. A. Bridges, of Lebanon, spent Sunday with friends here. Mrs. Lizzie Balner is on the sick list. Miss Edna Jones and Miss Lucy Newcomb are very low with consumption.

THE OLD, OLD STORY TOLD AGAIN.— My lover came down to the garden gate, and he whispered to me:—(O! well I remember, the hour was late, and we stood by the chestnut tree; and he gathered me up in his arms so strong, and his eyes were alight with love; and little we cared for the nightingale's song, in the limbs of the tree above.) His voice was as soft as a golden lyre, as he whispered his thoughts to me, and his eyes were filled with heroic fire, and that was grand for a maid to see. And what were the words that my lover said, as we stood by the gate alone? O how gently he lifted my drooping head, and he said in his merry tone:—(O! I seem to stand by the gate again, as I stood in that night in June, while the nightingale murmured his happy strain, in the light of a happy moon! And the glad, glad thoughts that came to my heart, as he whispered these words to me!
The sun was hid in the golden west, and low in the flowing sea! And my love signaled his words should meet, a short and cruel rebuff, as he cried in a voice that was strangely sweet, "Well, say, is this not enough?"—[Atchinson Globe.]

She was an extremely pretty girl, even for a St. Paulite, and her name—well, society has "got it on the list." She was trying on the three-story and a basement flats now in vogue and chatting with a friend who happened in the milliner's at the same time. "Dear," said the friend, "I thought you were to be married this June?" "Well, I was to have been; but, you see, Earl's so abominably short, and we look absurd together with all my amsell hair, so I just told him that I loved him as much as ever, but he really must wait till lower hair come in.
Yes, he was very unreasonable, but I was firm. I told him I was really very sorry, but there would be sure to be a reaction against the high hair by next spring—anyway, willy nilly, I wouldn't marry him till they went out!"—[St. Paul Pioneer Press.]

The handsome men in New York, said a well known physician the other day,
"are the bar tenders. The modern bar tender of a first class bar-room is required to be abstemious in his habits. Saloon keepers as a rule, do not want a man around them who drinks. The result is that the bar tenders have good complexions and clear eyes. They have plenty of time to pay attention to their personal appearance, and as a class make up better than any other set of men in New York. You might put a hundred of them in a ballroom and they would outshine the pick and flower of New York aristocracy."—[New York Tribune.]

LANCASTER COUNTY DEPARTMENT.

—Engleman & Farrie's station now in training at Richmond, is reported as being very fast and improving rapidly.

—C. Price's 1 year old gelding is now being handled by Mr. Traynor, of Richmond.
Reports from him are very favorable. He is a trotter.

—The residence of James H. Farrie, who lives near Camp Dick, was destroyed by fire Wednesday. He saved very little of the furniture.

—Capt. T. A. Ekin has just returned from Lexington, where he bought the horse Arthur Sams, the fine stallion which made his season at Maple this year. Price paid $1,500.

—Sam Miller has sold his Sashland pony,
"Titwillow," to Dr. White of Memphis, for $100. This is the second one he has sold for that money. He still has the dam of both ponies.

—Henry Johnson, alias Brooks, who is accused of stealing a lot of tools from Mr.
Gentry at Mt. Vernon, was arrested here by Marshal Robert Hamilton Tuesday. Johnson had disposed of the tools to sundry parties in town and was leaving the city when arrested. He was taken to Mt. Vernon yesterday by the marshal.

—W. H. Harris went to Cynthiana Tuesday to take a position as operator there.
Jennie, the beautiful little daughter of Mr.
O. T. Wallace, of Point Leavelle, is very ill of indigestion of the bowels. Mrs. Arch Walker lies very ill at her residence near Point Leavelle. Jesse Doty, wife and one of his children are all sick with the fever at Hartsville.

—City Notes.—The Court House bell is cracked and jure upon the nerves of our citizens, who have been wont to glory in its melodious notes. Rev. J. A. Munday continues to draw large crowds. Logan & Sandifer will soon be ready to fire their brick kiln. The hog law is suspended for the present. I have just learned that Dr.
Morgan, who bought the patent stove heater, which used water and oil as fuel, was victimized, as the party selling the same, had no right to dispose of it. They are at work again at the Lancaster Mills boring for water. The hole is 90 feet, and no water to amount to anything yet. Judge Hughes has been quite busy in court this week.
His decisions are very fair, and he delivers his opinion in a very impressive manner.

The Lexington Fair Association, the best association of the kind in America, will hold its regular annual meeting of five days beginning Tuesday, August 30. The catalogue is before us; the programme is excellent. For years this association has propered and its success is in the main due to the enterprising and safe men always at the head of affairs, for no better men live in the State than its officers and directors. The coming meeting promises to be the best in its history, surpassing the many brilliant events in past years. Major P. P. Johnston, our ex Senator, is President of the association, and Col. Thomas L. Martin, secretary, which is sufficient to recommend it to public favor. Our former friends should remember that it is not quite three weeks distant and that now is the time to begin getting stock in good condition for exhibition. The Floral Hall, which has always been a leading feature, attracting thousands from every section of the country, will be open on the first day, and no admission will be charged to ladies or children under 12 years old.

—For weeks past a hot, scorching sun has blazed down day after day upon an agricultural area embracing 75,000 square miles in the Northwest, burning the life out of all vegetation, drawing moisture from the earth and drying up streams. Cattle are starving to death by hundreds and famine stares the unfortunate farmers in the face. The drought is the worst ever known in the section.

Celia Forbing, of Kenton, O., was walking through the new court-house at Tiffin with some young friends. Suddenly she stepped up to the marriage record and dared any young man present to take out the papers and make her his. The challenge was accepted by a young man of the party and the knot was tied at Foster's arms night.

Gen. Black puts a good deal of effort into singing pensions, and veterans would prize them for that alone if they could see him writing. He was shot all to pieces in the late war, and both arms are very stiff.
It is quite as painful to watch him write as it is for him to do it.

Since 1880 the population of Kansas has increased from 993,000 to 1,600,000; its 3, 000 miles of railroad have become 6,000; its 5,000 school houses have grown to 8,000 and its personal property from $160,000,000 to $300,000,000.

"You want a keepsake that will always remind you of me?" she said. "I do, darling," he said tenderly. "What's the matter with myself, she whispered." There will be a wedding shortly.

—The night operator at Bordentown, N. J., fell asleep, and a collision occurred on the Pennsylvania Railroad which resulted in one death and serious injuries to several trainmen.

NOTICE.

To the Citizen of Lincoln County:

form you that we are in the market to buy your wheat and corn and will always give the highest market price for same. We have added some new machinery to our corn meal

THE official returns are nearly all in and they show that Gen. Buckner's plurality will be between 18,000 and 20,000. This is not a good showing by any means, but considering that the democratic ticket had to fight three others it is not near so bad as it might be. That all of the prohibition and labor vote came from the democratic ranks, is shown by the fact that Fox's vote of 8,000 and Cardin's of 5,000 added to the democratic plurality makes almost the exact majority of Cleveland over Blaine. So far as returned the vote shows that Buckner received about 25,000 less votes than Cleveland and Bradley about 8,000 less than Blaine. It is estimated that fully 100,000 people did not vote in the election at all and as the republicans nearly always turn out on such occasions, it is fair to presume that a big majority of the stay-at-homes are democrats, who will come out of their holes when occasion requires and wipe up the earth with Blaine, Sherman and any other son-of-a-gun that may be pitted against Grover Cleveland in 1888.

THE democratic party of Lincoln needs a thorough reorganizing. The late canvass shows that the county committee is not equal to its work. A majority of them not only refused to answer any of the calls for meetings, but appeared to take no interest whatever in the result. One of the number voted the prohibition ticket and we understand did all in his power for it. With such men in the camp it is no surprise that the army was routed, foot horse and dragoon. As the humble secretary of the committee, we know that with two or three honorable exceptions, the committeemen neither did anything for the party or offer to do anything. We need young, active and aspiring men to watch after the interests of the party and if those of the committee who have failed to do their duty do not resign they should be made to do so.

THE Louisville Times continues its tirade against the coronet, which, it declares, like the rascals, must go. Sara Bernhardt is cited as a wonderful example of the anti-coronet, never having had her bony sides encased in one of the straight jackets. A bean pole would look as well with a coronet on as Sara. It would stick out all around on her instead of acting as it usually intended. If Logan could look upon some of the figures that we have, minus a coronet, he would let up on the very necessary article and thank the inventor for contributing a big quota towards making the female form divine.

In his interesting column in the Courier Journal Col. Sam M. Burdett says that Col. Matt Adams cannot afford to accept the office of Secretary of State, with the beggarly salary of $1,500, but when the hour comes for old man Simon Bolivar to appoint a railroad commissioner, his name will appear on the list, or the writer is very much mistaken. Speaking of Gov. Buckner's cabinet, if the old gentleman has chosen his men he is a good hand to keep a secret, for nobody seems to know his intentions, although he will be inaugurated two weeks from next Tuesday.

A WARNING to cigarette smokers comes from New York. A youth there who got away with three packages of the poisonous things daily, died suddenly and upon a post mortem being held it was discovered that the cause of his death was smoker's heart, attributable to their excessive use. We don't know that it makes much difference, however. A boy that does nothing but smoke cigarettes is hardly worth lamenting. The sooner he and his imitators are taken off the better for the world, but it is hoped that boys of whom something is expected will take warning and let up on the silly, nasty habit.

A COUPLE of cousins at Point Pleasant, W. Va., named Townsend, paid court to the same young lady and she, unable to decide between them, said she would become the wife of the one who drew the longest straw. Bradley Townsend was the lucky dog, but he was not to be permitted to enjoy the prize, for the treacherous Ames immediately put a ball through the heart of the girl and inside his escape. He is still at large but a rope has already been tied for his worthless neck.

BRO. MULLINS says he is a minor and couldn't vote, but if he could have put in one it would have been for the straight democratic ticket and adds: While we believe in doing everything for the advancement of the temperance cause, we do not believe in supporting a prohibition candidate who draws his strength almost entirely from the democratic party and has no hopes himself of being elected and whose work tends to aid the republican candidate.

Down in Paducah a negro woman apparently died and after being prepared for the grave was placed in her coffin. Preparations for the burial proceeded and the mourners began to assemble to pay the last sad rites, when all at once she popped up from the narrow quarters. There was consternation and a scramble, but the woman assured them that she was not dead by a full and their fears were finally allayed. She is now going about.

THE Harrodsburg Democrat is appearing daily this week, full of breezy locale and nicely set advertisements. Brother Spotswood deserves to be congratulated.

FLOWER, the New Yorker who thought that the only requisite for a presidential candidate was a "barrel," of which he possessed several, and who thought he was in the fight in 1881, now rises to remark that Cleveland cannot be re-elected if nominated. Flower has never forgiven the man of destiny for walking off with the State of New York and the nomination before, and the father to his thought now is nothing save his wish.

Gov. FORAKER, who got a little coveted notoriety out of the rebel flag business by making an use of himself generally, has invited Cleveland in a gushing letter to visit Ohio, but the man of the White House has not seen fit to honor the fellow with even an acknowledgment.

NOTES OF CURRENT EVENTS

—The Kentucky Military Institute property is advertised for sale by the Franklin county Master Commissioner.

—William Berry fired into a trio of men who were stealing his corn, in Jessamine county, and killed one of the number, Jim Murphy.

—Winchester has a $2,500 steam laundry in operation, which we trust will pan out better than our miserably-managed concern.

—A syndicate of New York and Pittsburgh capitalists have purchased 100,000 acres of pine forests in South Carolina and Georgia.

—M. Mesquet, editor of a Paris paper, has been fined 200 francs and sentenced to two months' imprisonment for unfairly wounding his antagonist in a duel.

—Charles Williams, of Logan, W. Va., shot and killed James Aldridge, by whom he imagined himself aggrieved, and was immediately thereafter lynched.

—The returns so far received by the Secretary of State indicate that the majority of the qualified voters of the State have voted in favor of a new constitution.

—John Doore was fatally shot at a picnic in Calloway county, by Frank Collier, the manager. As he fell he fatally cut Collier with a knife that he had in his hand.

—David Hampton, a 16 year old horse-thief, who escaped from jail at Mountain View, Ark., was shot and killed Monday at Melbourne, that State, while refusing to be taken alive.

—Jessie Logsdon, aged 17 years, has been sentenced to two years in the penitentiary by the Harrison Circuit Court for a criminal assault upon a seven year old girl. He should have been hung.

—A fire which originated in the Adams Express stables in Louisville, burned that building and four horses, besides the Central Tobacco Warehouse with 200 hogsheads of tobacco. Loss $38,000.

—Gen. A. W. Doniphan died at St. Joseph, Mo., Monday evening. He was a member of the celebrated Peace Commission during the late war and was mentioned for the presidency in 1876.

—The National Veterans' Association, of Des Moines, Iowa, passed a resolution denouncing and repudiating the utterances of Tuttle and others, in connection with the projected visit of the President to St. Louis.

—The W. O. Tyler Paper Co., Chicago, has failed for over $300,000. Bad debts did it. The break also caused the Kentucky Lithographing Company to founder, as it was owned by John Rabel, one of the company.

—Mr. W. H. Newman, a Kentuckian, has been appointed Third Vice President of the Missouri Pacific road, with which he has been long connected. Mr. Newman is a cousin of Mr. Eugene Newman, the well-known "Savoyard" of the Courier Journal.

—Over confidence is always a menace to certain majorities, and the weakness of the republican ticket and programme increased this over-confidence among the Kentucky democrats. To a man a thousand miles up a tree that seems about the size of it. —Watterson.

—Secretary Fairchild opened the first bids for the sale of the Four-and-a-half bonds to the Government, and accepted that of the Suffolk Bank, of Boston, which offered $200,000 on terms that will be at a profit of a little over two per cent. to the Government.

—E. Lowry, a nephew of Gov. Lowry of Mississippi, shot and killed a colored man at Indianola, in that State. The same young man got into sundry disreputable rows during his attendance at the Louisville Law School and established a bad character generally.

—The grand jury of the Ryan Circuit Court has indicted Z. T. Young, Allie Young, John Trumbo and Green Mannin for confederating and conspiring to kill Howard Logan, and John Trumbo and John Keeton for shooting Logan. The Youngs and Mannin were released on $2,500; the others $1,000 each. Judge Cole has ordered the sheriff to summon fifty petit jurors in Fleming county, and has extended the term of the court for thirty days. He announces that a further extension will be made if necessary.

—A boy named John Johnson fell into a coke oven at Wyant's, W. Va., and was burned to death.

—A ghost player at Baltimore has come to grief. He wound himself in habiliments supposed to be worn by the specter and went to where some men were at work. Instead of fleeing, one of the number let go a ball at the figure and it fell pierced through the head by the missile.

—Bill Johnson, a stage robber, now languishing in an Idaho jail, speaks despondently of the business as follows: "Stage after stage has been held up without getting a nickel and it seems as though all the money in the country was in the hands of bankers, the railroad managers or the express companies."

DEATHS.

—John M. Clay, the last surviving son of Henry Clay, died suddenly Wednesday at his home near Lexington, in the 65th year of his age.

—Capt. Sam Crawford, conductor on the Main line, who frequently ran extra on this division, died Wednesday from the injuries he received at Horse Cave while coupling cars.

—John Menefee Elmore died at his home in the Walnut Flat neighborhood at 4:30 Wednesday morning of fever, age 50 years. A wife and a number of children are called on to mourn his loss, while his neighbors also generally deplore his demise. He was a strictly honest and clever man and endeavored to honor the Christian Church, of which he was a member, by living an up right and blameless life. How highly he was held in the esteem of his neighbors is shown by the fact that they had recently elected him a justice of the peace, a token of appreciation of which he was very proud. The funeral sermon was preached at 10 o'clock yesterday, after which the remains were interred in the Anderson grave yard.

—At the Richmond fair there were ten entries for the model ring, in which the prize was carried off by the bay stallion, Silver King, of J. E. & J. R. Farris.

—Chattanooga has given the William Wood Reaper and Mower Company $125,000 and eight acres of ground for a plant, and that company will move their works from Youngstown, Ohio, in a few days.

—A first-class ghost story was spoiled after creating much excitement in the establishment of Louis Cohn by the finding of a diminutive terrier of the female persuasion under the floor of a side show case. It was nearly starved and the wonder is how it got there.

S. Commissioner R. A. Burnside as soon as he became acquainted with the true facts of the case. Wm. Crouch, Bettie Caldwell and Tom Slaughter, taken to Lancaster on the same charge, were held for further trial.

NOTES FROM ALL POINTS.

MAIL from London now reaches San Francisco in thirteen days.

The State of Massachusetts has over sixty-five thousand widows, half of whom are less than forty years old.

Ostrich eggs in California are bringing fabulous prices, the birds themselves sell at one thousand dollars a pair.

A square of mumps lately struck the town of Rome, Mich. Over three hundred people had them at the same time.

The silver mines of South America annually produce silver estimated at the value of twenty-six million dollars.

It is thought the city of London will increase in population about three-quarters of a million in the next ten years. The births recorded every week are over a thousand in excess of the deaths.

The United States Government is accumulating a surplus of $100,000,000 a year that it does not know what to do with, besides paying its indebtedness with unnecessary haste.

As an evidence of the advance of education in Nevada it is stated that post office statistics show an increase of over one hundred per cent. per annum in the number of letters and newspapers mailed in that country.

It is reported that Florida annually produces $800,000 worth of honey, $400,000 worth of strawberries, $50,000 worth of hogs, $90,000 worth of sheep, $50,000 worth of beef, $250,000 worth of oranges, $100,000 worth of fish and oysters, $1,500,000 worth of oranges, lemons, limes and pineapples, $200,000 worth of sugar and molasses, $250,000 worth of rice, $240,000 worth of cedar and $200,000 worth of other lumber and $4,000,000 worth of cotton.

A piece of ground in Philadelphia, with a frontage of sixteen feet on Chestnut and thirty-four feet on Fourth street, was recently sold for $55,000, or $346 per square foot. It was necessary to complete a building upon the site of the city, and therefore commanded this extraordinary figure. This is the highest price ever paid for real estate in America. The one next to it, perhaps, was on Wall street, New York City, where a lot sold for $45 per square foot. The Philadelphia price was at the rate of $25,000 per acre.

The relative increase in population in Canada is much less than in the United States. Indeed, it is not as certain as the whole of the world, as immigrants who seek Canada as a place of settlement move from that country to the United States every year. It is a fact that the number who leave Canada for the United States exceeds the number of those who enter Canada from the United States, and the latter fact is a better testimony for the improvement of the condition of the intelligent and industrious immigrant from Canada affairs.

The silver mine in King's Mountain, N. C., was said to be the richest in the world, and was a rare and valuable specimen made from the bowlers of a species of hard rock called the "Silver Mountain" and now extinct. These bowlers, only two of which grew upon one hill, are of beautiful size and are about the size of a silver dime. They were received from the natives at the time in payment of taxes, in which were some five thousand were collected and all woven into the royal garment. The preservation of this royal cloak requires the continual attention of a person engaged for the purpose.

An interesting phenomenon has for some time past been observed on the eastern coast of the Caspian sea. The Kara Bohus is an extensive nearly separated from the main body of the sea by a bank through which there is an inlet. The evaporation from this gulf is so great that a current continually sets in from the Caspian, and as there is no return current, the water of the gulf becomes more and more saliferous, and a deposit of salt is in process of formation. The natural result of this would appear to be that in time this gulf will be cut off from the Caspian, and being the dried up will become an extensive salt flat.

FOR THE HOME CIRCLE.

If the little ones are troubled with canker sore mouth apply a little borax and honey.

Put a little concentrated ice water quickly on the forehead and clear the brain quickly. It is the danger of dizziness.

Burnt heels and shoes can be patched by the aid of a cement prepared from dissolving finely-cut rubber in benzine.

A person should never suffer from indigestion when a little carminic acid is obtainable. A teaspoonful in a quart of water makes an alleviating wash.

As instance is given in which facial neuralgia was permanently cured by the application of warm water and ammonia and heated bricks wrapped in wet cloths, followed by friction of the extremities.

Those afflicted with corns may find relief, if a car, in the use of balsam of fir, which should be spread upon the corn and covered with a small piece of cotton.

HALF AN OUNCE of sweet oil containing a moderate amount of sulphur is said to be an excellent lotion with which to bathe the parts affected by inflammatory rheumatism.

Those not provided with ice chests or refrigerators should have exposed butter to the deleterious effects of water. A good plan is to cover the butter dish with an inverted earthen crock around the bottom of which may be poured water to keep it cool.

MANY young housewives who do their own laundry work, desire to acquire the art of polishing the linen. It requires practice, but of course there are many helps in this direction. One way of preparing the starch is mixing in a small piece of goat butter. This, it is said, produces a fine gloss.

A BOTTLE of spirits of turpentine should be kept in every house, for its uses are numerous. A few drops sprinkled where cockroaches congregate will exterminate them at once, also ants, rats or black. Moths will flee from this odor of it. Besides, it is an excellent application for a burn or cut. It will take out stains out of white muslin, when added to them while boiling.

INDIAN corn contains a large amount of nitrogen, has antiscorbutic qualities, is easily assimilated, cheap and very nutritive. Indian meal, in the shape of Johnny cake, hot cake, corn or pone, bread and mush, relieved by copious draughts of pure cow's milk, to which, if inclined to dyspepsia, a little lime water may be added, will make a life, now a burden, well worth the living, and you need no other treatment to correct your nervousness, brighten your vision and give you sweet and peaceful sleep.

TO PURIFY a room, set a pitcher of water in the apartment, and in a few hours it will have absorbed all the noxious gases in the room, the air of which will have become purer, but the water utterly filthy. The colder the water is the greater the capacity to contain these gases. At the ordinary temperature a pint of water will absorb a part of carbonic acid gas and several pints of ammonia. The capacity is nearly doubled by reducing the water to the temperature of ice. Hence water kept in a room while is unfit for use.

LOCAL MATTERS.

BACON wanted by T. R. Walton.

The Commercial Hotel, Louisville, Ky., has reduced its rates to $1.00 per day.

The bill of the season will be given at Crab Orchard Springs to-night and many of our young people will attend.

ANOTHER summer is drawing to a close and no circus yet. It's over two years now since one raised its tents in Stanford.

LICENSE was issued Tuesday to Mr. H.
F. Warner to marry Miss Elizabeth Hagg, a pretty little German girl of the colony in this county.

W. H. MILLER sold to J. T. Hays a lot of an acre on Logan avenue in his extension for $150.

The Club gave a splendid little Hop at Walton's Opera House Wednesday night in honor of the visiting ladies, which was fully attended and apparently greatly enjoyed. Senator Hays's superb orchestra furnished the music.

FOR SALE—I have a few articles of furniture that I will sell at a bargain. I am obliged to leave Stanford soon and would like to dispose of the furniture before Saturday. The articles can be seen at room No. 6, Myers House. Frank Harris.

In a day and a half at the Mt. Vernon court our energetic business manager succeeded in bagging a good deal of cash and securing 30 new subscribers. This may be called capital work when we consider that our subscription list in that section was already very gratifying, but El never fails to catch 'em round' and a wiser.

The elegant residence of Hon. John S.
Owsley was the scene of beauty, gallantry and mirth, Tuesday night, when Misses Mattie and Maggie Owsley gave a reception in honor of their lovely guests, Misses Mamie Porter, of Glasgow, and Mary Lou Harris, Lavinia Miliken and Martha Gibson, of Nashville. A large party went out from town and with music, dancing and other means of merry making, several hours were delightfully spent. The refreshments served in Mrs. Owsley's most excellent style were also a feature that was much enjoyed. The seldom meets a more charming party than the young ladies named and they have already established themselves favorites with the young pen-ple.

The Cumberland Valley Land Co., has employed Col. J. H. Tinsley, of Barlow ville, to look after the title of the 100,000 acres of land that it has options on in Bell and Harlan counties, and a better selection could hardly have been made. It is proposed that the number of directors be increased from seven to nine and an election for that purpose has been ordered for next Thursday at the office of Treasurer J. S.
Hacker. The latter gentleman and George McAllister have just returned from the counties named above and are very much pleased with the prospect. Lands along side of those they have options upon, at $2 to $5 per acre, according to the size of the tract, and they think that the timber on much of them can be disposed of at these figures and still have the land with its wealth in cash. In addition to those whose names are signed to the incorporation notice in this paper, Gov. McCrory, Senator Bennett, John D. White, Judges Robert Boyd and Vincent Boring, J. A. Craft and other noted men are members of the Company.

WINTER—In looking over the history of old man Jacob Buell and his connection with the woman, Mary Curtis, it is hard to tell whether he was more sinned against than sinning. Formerly a man of considerable property, with a wife and six grown children, he seems to have been enamored by the wiles of a designing woman and once into the parlor, like the foolish thr, he was unable to extricate himself. It seems that near Port Huron, Michigan, he had a dairy farm and that he employed the woman to work at it. It was not long before it began to be whispered that employer and employee were thicker than their station suggested and the good people of the vicinity inquiring that they wanted no Mormon practices there, Mr. Buell came to Kentucky, apparently for his health. This was five years ago, and then as up to his death the old man was suffering with asthma. He had not been here long before the woman appeared on the scene, and Mr. Buell having purchased a farm near Waynesburg, they went there to live as man and wife.
The citizens catching on to the irregularity of the proceedings, soon made it unpleasant for them to remain there and Mr. Buell rented a house in Stanford and engaged Capt. Cook and wife to keep it for him. A day or two after their installation the woman came and said she intended to occupy the room with Mr. Buell. Here arose trouble again and the captain and family indignantly left the establishment. The old man, who was past 70, seemed to be perfectly entranced by the woman, who is less than half his age, and although they quarrelled and fought and he accused her once or more of trying to poison him, he could not shake her off or return to the woman he had wronged. He has in five years spent most of a fair fortune upon her and it is said that she has worked him for all he was worth. It is singular that they were permitted to live in this community in open concubinage, but we suppose that the fact that the real state of affairs was not known prevented an investigation. Mr.
Jenks, the attorney for the family, has gone to Fentress county, Tenn., where he died, to find out what he can of his business affairs. County Clerk G. B. Cooper tells us that when the Waynesburg farm of 191 acres was originally bought by Mr. Buell for $1,500 he deeded it directly to the Curtis woman, but that a half dozen deeds backwards and forwards had been made of it since. Last fall he came to town and sending for Mr. Cooper told him to record a deed that he gave him as quick as he could and that he would pay him extra for his haste. This was a deed of the land from Mary Curtis to Jacob Buell, but before the ink had hardly dried on the record book a telegram was received from the woman protesting against its entry and saying that it was illegal. The deed now stands from Buell to Benben and Mary Curtis and the alleged consideration was $2,500. As Mr. Buell had a wife and her name is not to the paper, it is illegal so far as her dower is concerned.

SOMEbody gave Judge Carson's monkey enough whisky the other day to make it drunk and it went on a general tear. It is supposed that this Dicker is the offender and if it is found out to be true, he will be prosecuted under the law against giving a minor liquor.

BIG SNAKE—Sam Ferrill, a boy of 15, killed a huge rattlesnake near Mitchell-burg, Wednesday, which he gave to Mr.
John H. Craig. He was in a few feet of him and with the first rock that he threw broke the reptile's neck. Mr. Craig says Col. Orr and his famous snake dogs were not called into requisition.

SOME of the prohibitionists are worrying over the fear that the next legislature will resubmit the liquor question to the voters of Lincoln. We are sure that their fears are groundless. We are doing so well under the new order of things that the worst anti-prohibitionist cannot help admitting it and for one we shall do all in our power to have the law remain as it is.

THE New York and Philadelphia Clothing and Merchant Tailoring Agency of John H. Craig & Co., with Browning King & Co., Wamamaker & Brown and Jacob Reed's Sons offers to the trade large lines of fall and winter fabrics for men's suits, trousers and overcoats. Each garment guaranteed to fit perfectly or no sale. New York and Paris plate of fashions just received.

HAKE'S WELL.—Beginning to-day, Friday, August 12th and continuing until the close of the season, I will reduce the price of board to $5 per week children and servants half price. College rent reduced from $5.50 to $1 per week. N. W. who can stay away? If you can't stay a week, come spend the day. Want everybody to come before the season finally closes. Respectfully, A. L. Spoonamore.

WIFE MISSING.—Sam Hinzinger, the hard-working Swiss who butchers for Mr.
Timony, mourns the loss of his wife, who deserted him without cause last week, and has not since been heard from. She is from the old country and is the second wife of the deserted man. He went to Louisville in search of her Wednesday, but learning nothing he returned. She took their only child with her. Mr. Hinzinger fears that she has lost her mind as there was no trouble between them and they had always get-ton along pleasantly.

WANTED TO BE KICKED.—I'me Lewis Boswell called in the other day and turning around in front of us said: "Give me a good kicking, I deserve it." As we had no desire to do up our good old friend, we asked him to explain. "Well, you know the last time I saw you I said I intended to vote for Blabin. I did think I would, till he made a speech at McKinney, when darn his ugly picture, I swore I wouldn't do it under any circumstances. I had always thought you were too hard on him, but I know now you weren't and I just want you to kick me for even thinking of voting for such a scoundrel." The old man then branched off into an eulogy of Gen. Buckner and the democratic party and pronounced his malediction on negroes and what-not in general. Uncle Lewis is a democrat from the "far end of away back" and the way he can go for republicans is refreshing.

CHARGED WITH KIDNAPING.—A few nights ago, while on a visit to his mother, in Crab Orchard, Mr. Simon H. Gornuky, of Lexington, was robbed of $120. Suspecting the negro cook, he, with Whit Montgomery, Sam Tateum, Tom Carson and Joe Magee started to look for her and coming across Morgan Baughman and Tom Welch, with whom she was intimate, they took them in charge and continued the search. They kept them from 10 at night till 4 next morning and in the Deep Well Woods endeavored with threats and other means of intimidation to force them to tell the whereabouts of the woman. The negroes claim that they tried to hang them and told them that their time had come.
One attempted to get away, but on being shot at, desisted, while the other put in his time praying. Squire Larken Wells, after hearing the evidence on both sides, acquitted the accused, but held them for a breach of the peace. They were immediately tried by a jury and also acquitted of that charge.

PROMOTIONS.—Capt. Frank Harris, who has been Chief Train Dispatcher on the Knoxville Division for several years, received a flattering notice from headquarters this week of his promotion to Master of Trains on the St. Louis division of the I. & N., with office at Evansville, Ind. No man ever served a company more loyally than Capt. Harris and no man in the service is more deserving of honorable recognition by it. A thorough gentleman in every respect, he has won to him every man on the road and established himself in the good will of every citizen of Stanford, and all with one accord, while rejoicing in his good fortune, will regret that he will no longer be one of us. Good luck to him always. Mr. J. C. Florence, who had the "second trick" in dispatching's parlance, has been promoted to Chief Dispatcher. This is also a most deserving promotion. Starting on the road a few years ago in a humble position, he has by diligence and close attention worked himself up to one of the most important and his friends here, where he cast his lot a number of years ago, look at his record with pride and satisfaction.
Mr. Matt Woodson succeeds to his "trick" and a dispatcher from Montgomery will take the third. We were in hopes that Mr.
T. F. Spink would be returned here, but as he is in direct line of promotion in the Louisville office, it is not likely that he wishes to leave.

JOURNAL EXTRACTS.

It is computed that ten years hence Brooklyn will have a population of one million and New York City two millions.

In describing the manner in which an alligator makes a meal a sportsman in the South says his "gatorship" reclines at ease with his jaws distended for the accommodation of unconscious animals, reptiles and insects that find an entrance, when, having concluded that there is a good mouthful assembled, he shut down on them, and after introducing them to his anterior, repeats the performance.

It is the opinion of practical observers of human life that the man who lives the longest is the one of medium size, with slightly florid complexion, short neck, rounded instead of square shoulders, large hands and feet, deep chest, and with the lump of alimentiveness well developed. This sort of man is slow to anger, sane and meditative, and he is not the one to make mountains of mole hills.

While fishing in a mountain stream in the Gunnison valley, Col., an observing gentleman witnessed the singular death of a large number of newly-hatched trout. When one of these came to the surface of the water, a musquito would fly at him and drive him back into the little creature's brain. When the musquito flew away the little fish turned over dead. In the course of half an hour, the old river saw some twenty trout killed in this way.

A small and beautiful breed of milk cow known as the "Dutch-delft" breed, is being introduced into this country, which, it is said, is the highest attainment of scientific breeding ever reached. It is a native of Holland, in which country the breed is (almost) exclusively raised. The peculiarity of the cattle is a broad, white belt around the body, the rest of the animal being entirely black. It is said a view of these animals, grazing in the lowlands of Holland is a truly imposing sight.

The first violin is said to have been elaborated from an ancient viol in the sixteenth century. Gasparino di Gato was the first celebrated maker, after whom came Andrea Amati and his sons Jerome and Antonio who maintained the reputation of the Cremona school. Nicolas, the son of Jerome, excelled his predecessors in the art, and produced the sweetest sounding instrument of that day. Subsequently Stradivarius, a pupil of Nicholas Amati, attained a world-wide reputation for superiority in the art of violin-making, and his instruments are in many cases priceless.

It is related of an enterprising German confectioner who traveled to Constantinople in search of employment, that in a short time he obtained and now occupies the position of past-maker to the Sultan at a very comfortable income. As the result of much pertinacity the confectioner was set to making pastry as a test of his power in the art, and his success was so complete that he was engaged right off at a salary of 500 piastres a month. But better luck still awaited him. The pastry found its way to the Sultan's table and his Highness was so pleased with it that he made the confectioner his personal confidant at once, with 1,000 piastres a month for making pies.

When a person is to be told that a dog could tell a lie they would regard it as a strange assertion, yet such a thing is possible as was demonstrated by a Chicago dog recently. It was taught to go to market with a basket in its mouth, and when the article desired was not obtainable, to make it known by barking. On one occasion he set the dog down to attend to another dog that had offered him an affront, and it was carried home by an acquaintance of the family. Upon discovering his loss the dog was very much disconcerted, but rushing home he secured an old basket from the yard, and depositing it at the feet of his mistress, went through the dog manner of saying the market was out of the desired article.

The city of Philadelphia was the seat of the first Continental Congress, at which place its sessions continued until December, 1775. Until March following its sessions were held at Lancaster when it resumed Philadelphia as its point of assembly. In September the British success at Brandywine placed the city at the mercy of the enemy, and Congress was removed to Lancaster, Pa., where its sessions were continued from September 26, 1777, until July 1778. The 24 of July of the last mentioned year witnessed its return to Philadelphia, where its deliberations were continued until June 30, 1783. November 26, 1783, Congress convened at Trenton, N. J., and the following January its sessions were removed to Lancaster, which continued to be the place of meeting until 1793. Here it was that the constitution was adopted and the first Federal Congress assembled under that constitution, with George Washington President, in March, 1789. In 1800 Philadelphia became the capital for ten years, and in 1800 the capital was removed to Washington.

Love before the age of chivalry quantified ideas as to extent and features, and some of our well-known sayings owe their origin to the loving plumes. "To plume one's self" comes from the Hungarians, who placed in their caps a feather for each Turk killed, and their faces were decorated according to valor. The use of the white feather as a sign of withdrawal from a contest or of a true undoubtably arose from the fact that the bravest of the white feathers were the most easily seen. The East Indians and the North American Indians believe that feathers endow the power with the virtues of the bird from which they are plucked, and as the peacock is vain, arrogant and greedy, he can scarcely endow one with all these virtues. The Tartars firmly believe that he who touches a beautiful woman with a kingfisher's feather will gain her love. People who can appreciate the beauty of the fine ostrich feathers can imagine the appearance of helmets formed entirely of them, and yet they were so used by the ancients without a thought, apparently, of their ornamental value.

California's vineyards are attracting the attention of the world, yet few who have not visited the wonderful State can realize their full extent. As an example, the vineyard of Seaton or Stanford is here described. It extends for several miles up and down on each side of the road as you approach Vista, and back from the road as far as the eye can reach. In some places the vines are large, in others they have just been set out, and in the latter case they are supported by an array of stakes. This vineyard contains 3,500 acres, and is the largest in the world. More vines are being set out every year. The prettiest sight of all are the old Greek vines, which form the nucleus of the vineyard. These vines are all old and stand fully five feet high. The trunks are larger than a man's arm. The branches are trimmed off at the bottom and allowed to grow out at the top, until the vineyard looks like an orchard of young peach trees, and they are all pruned off so evenly that they make one level floor of green as the eye glances across them. The vines already in bearing receive the attention of several hundred men to take care of the grapes they produce, and it will take a small army of men to attend the crop each year when all the vines get to bearing.

FAMILY SUGGESTIONS.

Activated charcoal is recommended as an excellent cleanser of knives and kitchen utensils.

Milked too often serves as a substitute for distilled water in any but the most delicate operations.

The beauty of hardwood or stained pine floors depends upon their being kept bright and free from dust; sweeping with a hair broom every morning and washing once a week will insure this. When there is much dust a damp cloth must follow the broom.

An excellent method of destroying ants when they infest the premises is to saturate a sponge with some sweetened liquid and place it accessible to the insects. When they discover it they will swarm through it, when it may be thrown into boiling water.

People who can not drink cold milk often find it palatable and beneficial when taken as hot as possible. Upon a hot day and over-worked persons it has an exhilarating effect. The milk should be fresh and heated as hot as possible without boiling.

Ivory may be cleansed with a new soft tooth-brush, soap and tepid water, then dry the ivory and brush well, dip the brush in alcohol and polish the ivory until it has resumed its former shine. If the water gives the ivory a yellowish tint, dry the object in a heated place. If age has yellowed it place the object under a bell-jar, with a small vessel containing lime and muscivore acid, set the whole in the sun.

Flowers may be preserved indefinitely by being placed in water in which a small quantity of spirit of chloroform has been dropped. In an airtight vessel with a glass shade covering. Take for export material, a soap plate, place the flowers in the water, adjust the shade and fill above the edge with water, so as to render it airtight. It is said flowers may be preserved in this manner for months.

A stramonium for fastening knives and forks into their handles is made by melting one pound of compound of any drugstore, and eight ounces of sulphur. It may be kept in a jar or reduced to powder. Take one part powder and mix with iron filings, fine sand or brick dust, and fill the cavity of the handle, then heat the end of the knife or fork and insert. When cold it will be found to be firm in its place.

Extinguishing ink for marking linen is made as follows: Dissolve one ounce of nitrate of silver in one ounce of water and add strong liquid ammonia until the precipitate first formed is redissolved. Add one and a half drachms of gum mastic and enough finely powdered indigo or other coloring matter to render the writing clearly visible. The writing is made black and indelible by passing a hot iron over it. For the work may be especially prepared for artists' use in etching.

Lavender in the house is a sure cure for the many ills, imaginary ones, that assail the domestic circle. The woman who has a bright cheerful disposition dispels one-half of those that are real. She may not be the best housekeeper; the bread may not always be light or the potatoes done to a turn, or the butter always in place, but one forgets them when she is in her readiness to make the best of everything as it comes. Home in a measure is what the presiding spirit of the house makes it, the brightest or the gloomiest spot on earth.

To make a raspberry short pie, use five quarts of raspberries, two quarts of sugar, eight pints of granulated sugar. Gently wash the berries, put them into a porcelain-lined kettle, add the sugar and stir three times a day for a week, keeping the kettle well covered meanwhile. Strain it through a close flannel cloth. Mix one pound of sugar with the seed pulp, work it well and strain. Put all the syrup together into the kettle, add the rest of the sugar and boil and skim till the skin no longer forms, then bottle, while hot, and seal. It is diluted with cold water and drunk like the lemon short pie.

For the preservation of household stores the following suggestions are made: Hams may be wrapped in paper and packed in a barrel of ashes. Smoked ham or beefsteak being cut can be hung in a coarse linen bag tied closely to keep out flies and kept in a cool place. Cheese should be kept in a tight tin box. Cakes should be kept in tin or wooden box. Bread should not be exposed to the air. Coddish should be moved from garret to cellar. All salted provisions must be kept under the brine. Dried vegetables should not be kept in the cellar and cellars should be whitewashed to be kept sweet and cool.

A very good method may be made with bright pieces of woolen cloth. One of the best is a very good foundation on which to sew the strips of carpet. A new size for a large rug is a yard and a half long by three-fourths wide. Cut the pieces of carpet on the bias, two inches wide and as long as the pieces of carpet. Bring each edge out half an inch. Put two of these strips together, one on top of the other, and sew them together lengthwise on the foundation. Make other strips and sew them so closely on the foundation that it will be entirely covered and the fringed ends will form a thick mat.

MANY a passionate child rules the household. The little baby on its mother's knee goes into passion because its dinner is not cooked to its liking, or some toy denied him. His shrieks and strikes at his mother, and the mother says: "Poor little boy, he has such a passionate nature; he can't be crossed," and yields to him. She ought to speak him—spank him hard—for being in a passion, and give him nothing till his passion has cooled. The child, though he be so young that he cannot speak, if he were old enough to lift his fist and strike a blow, deserves punishment, needs to have a lesson of repression taught him.

Tea-rsatelets are made of three shades of gross grain ribbon. The ribbons are frayed to form a deep fringe at the bottom and are joined to form a bag, which is filled with a mixture well sprinkled with the favorite perfume powder. Fancy stitching is made on either side of all this seams; the top of the bag is faced with silk, and far enough below the top to form a full, pretty frill it is closed by a wide feather edged ribbon, that is gracefully tied with an immense bow, the words "Birth-day treasure," embroidered in bullion, decorating the loops. Any preferred colors may be selected for the satchets, three shades of heliotrope, green, blue or yellow being especially very effective. The ribbons may be of different colors.

Some persons claim that they cannot digest chocolate, while others say it does not nourish them, but in the former case it is very likely that inferior or badly made chocolate has been used, while in the latter it is probable that they do not eat heartily enough of other food. Let any one who has any digestive power left eat a hearty meal and then drink a large cup of good, well-made chocolate, and three hours afterward everything will have been perfectly digested. It is an easy thing to experiment, and if any man who has indulged too freely in wine, or who has been deprived of sleep, and his faculties dulled, then hanging heavily on his hands, the weather unendurable, will drink a pint of the best chocolate, well made and mixed with a little beer, the result will prove delightful.

HOOKED-NOSE SALMON.

One of the Most Delicacies of Fish and Game.

The Caribou river is a wild, rugged stream, fed by the great glaciers at the base of Mount Tacoma. It tears down through a region indescribably grand and picturesque, and as it rushes onward toward Puget Sound other streams join it until it is a broad and sweeping affluent. Almost all the way along this river fish and wild animals of many sorts are to be found in abundance.

Henry Thornberry, of Carbonado, is at a downtown hotel.

"Did you ever hear," said he the other day to a San Francisco Examiner man, "how the bears fish for salmon on the Caribou river? They do for a fact. I live on the margin of the river, and I pledge you my word that in the Bottomless canyon, twelve miles from my home, I have seen many as three bears within a scope of a mile sitting at the river's brink and belching as industriously as any man you ever saw, others in the same vicinity have seen many of them oftentimes. They are black bears, and live in the thick woods along the stream.

The fish they particularly like are the hooked-nose salmon, a large fish, not well liked by most persons on account of their age. The fish get up in the Caribou river, and being unmolested by man, stay there. The noses of the old ones are long and hooked.

"The bears sit on the side of the stream, watch their chance and swipe them up as they come along. There's a great many in the river, and being largely unmolested, they are pretty tame. The bears often take out fish there that are a couple of feet or more long.

"Well, so many of these hooked-nose salmon are taken that people do not like the bear meat. It is a fishy. The result is that it is an unhealthy country for bears, too. There are lots of them, and they are as fat as butter. From one end of the Caribou river to the other bears in profusion are to be found.

"Myself and Tim Worthington of Wilkeson killed last January in a three-day's hunt many more if we had wanted to. The bear meat is not too good to eat with the head and small of fish so much in demand as at other times of the year, but we didn't save all the meat. It would have been too much trouble to get it down.

"Three or four hunters left for up there the following month and they got some where about thirty bears before they stopped. Like us, they were principally after the skins.

"The season far up in the snow only a short distance from the glaciers and had to bring down their meat and skins on toboggans.

"They had no accidents, but they ran several narrow risks. It is rather dangerous hunting for bear in that region. The country is so new and wild that men are rarely seen and the bears have it all their own way except when they collide with other wild animals, and when they do it is not without a fight.

"There are a few grizzlies there, with plenty of mountain lions and smaller game."

IN A TERRIBLE PLIGHT.

A Sweet Society Woman Discovers That Her Costume Is Washing Out.

The women under the parasols one day on the river bank, old Pat discovered that something was wrong, says the New York Star. As Mrs. B. took a pause up and down she was not an expert swimmer—it was noticed that surrounding her the water took on varied colors.

"The dye is coming out of that gown," said one.

"I should say so," screamed another, "she's dyed all day."

"Never say dye," said a third; "either will she be multicolored and incurable dye!" But here she stopped, for one of the red splashes landed on her white skirt and it was seen that a figure had come off intact.

"Why, Mrs. Billings," some one cried, "those patterns were just stuck on!"

Here some one caught hold of the dress. It turned a soft mass in her hand.

"Heavens!" yelled Mrs. B., "it's washing out!"

"Squirt down in the water!" screamed one.

"Fetch an umbrella!"

"Bring a barrel!"

"Who's drowning?" sang out Duncan De Witt the Wolf, the wolf head of the party, dashing in among them.

You can't imagine what an excitement there was. Those on shore leveled their glasses and eyes on the water swam up. There was a buzz of talk, a loud cry to help, the Wolf ran up to the bank, leaped and got one of the old blue jeans things they rent for twenty-five cents to the men, and came back with it, and poor Mrs. Billings got into it and floated out of the water as soon as she could. Tubs of Japanese dress were washed ashore, and most every one had a bit of red and green washed that came off the bottom of the gown.

The Japanese stuff was made of paper, it seems, and began to resolve itself into the mud it was washed into. It was a narrow escape for Mrs. Billings.

THE WRONG CARD.

Fortune and Happiness Lost by a Single Inevitable Blunder.

We have all some and sometimes our lives and secrets that are not unusual or criminal or anything like that, says a writer in the San Francisco Chronicle, but simply moments of unhappy accident or painful stupidity. Don't you recollect, for instance, the time when your best friend wanted you to take her to the theater and you wrote to her you were sick and confined to your bed, and her younger brother told her next morning he had been out at a prize-fight with you?

Don't you remember, and kick yourself when you think of it, the time you wanted to show her the pretty letter you had from your mother about her, and you gave her instead a damning note from the Jeweler for the handsome bracelet you gave her as a present on the Christmas before? There are worse contraptions that you recollect occasionally, I know, but they would not look pretty in print.

I am reminded of the subject by the absent-mindedness of a fellow who dressed himself up in his best and went one evening to call upon the pretty daughter of a rich man, upon whose fortune he was building great hopes of future happiness. He rang the bell, handed his card and was shown into the parlor. In a minute the old gentleman himself came down with the card in his hand.

"We are very glad to see you, Mr. Jones, but I don't think you intended this card for us."

It was a pawn-ticket.
